

The European Award for Languages

The European Award for Languages (EAL) is part of the Transversal programme and is also known as the European Language Label. In the UK it is run by CILT, the UK's national centre for languages, on behalf of ECOTEC.

The European Award for Languages is a Europe-wide initiative which recognises creative ways to improve the quality of language teaching, motivate students, and make the best of available resources. To qualify for an Award, language projects must provide an inspiration to others, be replicable, and involve any language other than English.

South Wolds are very lucky this year to have been chosen to receive a European Award for our Musubi Project. The award will be presented to us at the Emirates Stadium on the 29th July. Unfortunately the entire Musubi Team were not able to attend this very special event, so Charlotte Smailes (the Musubi leader), Ella van der Zwart, Beth Noble and Jenny Mulvihill accepted the award on the team's behalf.

Congratulations to the Musubi Team for their wonderful project! Read more about the Musubi Project on the Japanese-at-Southwolds website:
